

Our new name is now official!

AUSTIN ALLIANCE FOR WOMEN IN MEDIA

This name mirrors the ever-changing landscape of our industry and attempts to expand the make-up of our organization's membership.

The Austin Alliance for Women in Media will strive to be inclusive of all aspects of media, from radio and television to the cutting edge new media including online, social networking and other related industries.

2010-2011

DEVELOPMENT SPEAKER'S SERIES

AWM Programming Committee Co-Chairs, Univision Radio's Todd Hogan and Entercom's Kristina Killingsworth, have made it their goal this year to pinpoint unique perspectives from a wide-ranging cluster of mediums and professions that will continue to affect the way we do business every day.

The series is designed not only to inform and motivate, but it is also meant to be a resource for exploring new ways to approach our clients and partners. In the coming months we will hear from leaders in the areas of business networking, we will investigate new means to build retail vendor programs and we will discuss how to optimize non-profit relationships to realize new streams of revenue for our industry.

Visit www.awrtaustin.org for upcoming luncheon details.

MEMBER CONNECTION

MEET AWM MEMBER BETH BOBBITT

I graduated from Southwest Texas State University in 1996 with degrees in Mass Communications and English. After graduation, I moved to Austin, jumped right in to the Texas Association of Broadcasters – and I’ve been here ever since!

I’ve seen TAB and the broadcast industry change so much over the past 14 years...and I’m always impressed how Texas broadcasters continue to lead our industry.

As TAB’s Director of Marketing & Communications, I’m responsible for all levels of membership recruitment and retention as well as all our member publications, website, news alerts and events. I also manage TAB’s information technology.

My biggest event is right around the corner – the TAB/SBE 57th Annual Convention & Trade Show is set for Aug. 11-12 at the Renaissance Austin Hotel.

From selling exhibit booths and sponsorships to booking speakers, planning special events, making badges and stuffing tote bags – the TAB staff does everything in house! We’re proud to produce what has become the largest state broadcast association event in the nation.

In addition to the great educational options, networking is an important part of our annual gathering. The best part of my job is being able to interact with my broadcasters from all over Texas on a daily basis – but we all look forward to seeing everyone face-to-face at the convention.

The TAB Convention offers a fantastic opportunity for our industry to come together to renew old friendships, reconnect with business associates and form new relationships. Country music’s Kevin Fowler will be performing at our Opening Reception on Wed., Aug. 11. FCC Commissioner Meredith Attwell Baker keynotes on Thurs., Aug. 12. In between, we’ve got outstanding sessions for managers, salespeople and technical/engineering types.

Registration is still open! Contact me at (512) 322-9944 or beth@tab.org and I’ll get you signed up!

TAB strives to serve the needs of all our station members – from news, sales and on-air folks to owners and managers to office staff. If there’s something you need, just call us! We’re here to help.
